

Application for 2010 Internship The National Center for Family Integrated Churches

Contact Info: pbradrick@ncfic.org

Purpose of the Internship

The NCFIC is dedicated to promoting the restoration of biblical family and church life. We believe that God's design for the church family will not be realized unless men reclaim the mantle of sacrificial leadership at home, in the church, and in society at large.

In the spirit of Hebrews 11, men must commit themselves to walking by faith in Jesus Christ and His written revelation notwithstanding the many distractions generated by the worldly philosophies which permeate our post-Christian society. Toward this end, the NCFIC is dedicated to equipping men to be living examples; bold preachers of God's truth; men of scholarship; and men who will commit to disciple others.

Our internship is based upon these four principles. Interns will receive diverse training from Scott Brown and the NCFIC staff on subjects including communication skills, biblical ecclesiology and the biblical doctrine of the family.

In addition to its strong ministry emphasis through various conferences, the NCFIC is a publishing company that seeks to reach the Christian community with internet resources, books and audio messages. Interns will gain practical business and communication skills by participating in the day-to-day operation of the work. They will be expected to work hard, to be available to perform a diverse number of office-related responsibilities and to maintain high standards of personal and professional conduct.

Who may Apply?

Any Christian home educated young man who is at least 18 and no older than 25 who has the full blessing of his parents.

Terms and Conditions

Interns are expected to work hard performing whatever responsibilities are assigned to them with an excellent and appreciative attitude. They are expected to devote multiple hours per week after work hours to assigned reading and homework assignments, and to participate in vigorous classroom discussions.

Parents should be aware that all students are exposed to a worldview and theological training which reflects a strong belief in the sovereignty of God and the “Doctrines of Grace,” the historical-literal approach to bible interpretation and the sufficiency of Scripture. Interns must be willing to exchange their work for the training and opportunities they will receive at the NCFIC.

Interns lodge in a private residence devoted solely for the use of the NCFIC, across the street from the offices of the NCFIC.

Saturdays are reserved for the interns to participate Christian service within the community. This is an opportunity to be rooted in relationships and service and to bless other people in the community and home school families, consistent with the spirit of Titus 2.

Interns are to observe an assigned curfew.

Interns are required to attend services each Sunday at the Hope Baptist Church, where Scott Brown serves as elder.

By signing the attached application, a candidate agrees to uphold the highest standard of personal conduct while serving as an intern.

Interns must provide for their own private transportation.

As time and opportunity permit, travel and aid at conferences and home school book fairs may be afforded. In addition special projects for the mutual benefit of the organizations of NCFIC will be assigned.

As a NCFIC intern, you would be expected to cheerfully accept any other miscellaneous duties assigned by NCFIC Management. Furthermore, as an NCFIC intern and by signing this agreement you commit to protecting the confidentiality of any and all projects worked on while at NCFIC as an intern, and to conduct yourself in a manner reflecting glory of the name of Jesus Christ.

Understanding that there is no commitment for forward or lateral movement into other positions implied or guaranteed, we request your willingness to enter into this internship of the NCFIC, with a commitment to honor and protect the best interests of the organization, Scott Brown, his family, and other staff members.
